

STUDY IN LONDON BY WINNING A LUSH MSc SCHOLARSHIP IN PUBLIC HEALTH AT THE LONDON SCHOOL OF HYGIENE AND TROPICAL MEDICINE

MADAGASCAR NEEDS YOU

- Are you a highly motivated, ambitious Malagasy health professional with excellent qualifications and dedicated to your country?
- Do you want to study and train for 1 year at the University of London and wish to return immediately to make a real difference to the health of Madagascar?
- Do you have a high level of written and spoken English and want to do what it takes to pass an IELTS or TOEFL English language test?
- Do you have a good science or medical degree from a reputable university?
- Do you have at least two years of work experience as a doctor, scientist, statistician, health administrator or health professional?
- Would you prefer to do your MSc in Madagascar using the internet?
- For more information on MSc courses in public health at LSHTM please visit www.lshtm.ac.uk

To apply for a LUSH scholarship to study one of over sixteen public health MSc courses in London and four long distance MSc learning courses via the internet, starting September 2010, please send:

- A completed application form in English to be sent no later than September-21st-2009.
- Curriculum Vitae in English
- Certified copy of degree/s
- Two references in English or with official English translation
- 1,000 word essay in English on why you want to study public health at LSHTM and how you will use it on your return to Madagascar
- Results of TELP English language test taken at the American Cultural Center in Tana (recommended)

Application forms & scholarship rules available from: regional hospital administrators, district health posts, provincial health officers, university medical or science faculties, www.inspc.org or www.richardcowper.com

Please send completed applications to:

LUSH Madagascar, c/o The Dodwell Trust, Lot IBF 17 Ambatomena, 101 Antananarivo

LONDON SCHOLARSHIPS FOR HEALTH IN MADAGASCAR (LUSH)